Tapasya Tayal

I don't know where to start from because the journey was tremendous. Starting from the welfare work to the cycling expedition, everything was memorable. IAYP gave me an opportunity to learn, to explore and to discover my surrounding. I attended many workshops related to health, co-curricular activities which gave me a different kind of exposure. I was so excited to do all the activities. Cycling expedition was one of my best journey we covered 470km from school to Jaipur (1st December 2019 to 7th December 2019) it was 7days journey. The workshops were soo... good and I got the exposure to learn more and explore myself. the social services gave me the chance to connect with the real world.

This IAYP team had completed the entire journey with flying colors. The history has been created by team. It was a very new experience for all the students and in spite of facing a lot of hurdles be it be riding over steep flyovers, to puncturing their cycles and going through the unmanageable traffic of Jaipur, all the girls were able to complete these five days long mission.

This journey of IAYP also gave me the opportunity to plant new trees (Paudhgiri) this plantation activity was fun loving.

IAYP gave me a completely different prospective to look at the real world and change my mindset in a very positive way.

Thank you!

Gaurika Nigam

I fall short of words to describe my journey of IAYP. The journey was full of emotions from excitement, happiness and confusion. starting from the workshops to the adventure camp, every moment will always have an imprint on my mind. from the bundles of activities done, workshops attended, places visited, the adventure camp in Dfrom21st September to 25th December '2019 will always remain my favorite. Going on the top of the hill, performing all the adventurous activities from commando net to zip line rope to gazing the stars in the night and learning about all the constellation is one of my best VDJS experience. The company of 182 students gave me a different kind of social exposure accompanied by the natures beauty.

Paudhgiri, plantation activity also gave us an exposure to the nature where we planted a sapling, gave it a name and pledged to take care of it.

IAYP in all helped me shape my personality in a different kind of way in all the aspects ranging from social to physical and helped my see the world from a completely different prospective.

thank you!

Shreya Ramraika

Well like the journey of life the IAYP journey too was a roller coaster ride. It has its own highs when I was exploring new adventurous activities such as Paragliding, Rock Climbing, rappelling which IAYP gave me strength for and its lows while serving those in need and plant new trees in Paudhigiri. IAYP gave me an opportunity to learn, to explore and to discover things which maybe I would never have done otherwise. I attended many workshops related to health, app making and other co-curricular activities which gave me a kind of exposure which seemed unreal.

Not only the IAYP journey encouraged me to look at the real world and change my mindset in a very positive way but also it helped me to remain consistent for the extracurricular things in life I wanted to pursue for as a student aside from my studies.

Lastly, I would like to thank the IAYP team for giving me this wonderful opportunity to shape myself to my greater self.

Thank You!
